gnomefreak: Konsole is the console, no? o0Chris0o: no it says supported NTQ: he meant the command to get it ornery:? cinex, the panel thing ornery: no, you mean the dock on the left of the screen ornery: But "thing" suggests a program. You mean the KDE panel? I think. yes not the gnome panel ornery: the thing that looks like a ledge at the bottom of the screen LinuxGuy2009: no the dock at the bottom of the screen gnomefreak: i don't understand. why did he ask me? cinex, i dont understand the question NTQ: he asked for the command to get the version ornery: I was talking about the thing you just said. gnomefreak: yes, i see. LinuxGuy2009, i know what you mean ornery: Ok good. cinex, no, i dont know that ornery: the app that has the OS X launcher gnomefreak: i tried dist-upgrade, but it says: "E: I wasn't able to locate file for the libstdc++6-4.4-dev package. This might mean you need to manually fix this package." How can I make the computer treat ntpdate like it was configured by a static IP, not as a daemon? ornery: that is what you want. i want gnome panel ornery: the one with the rest of your apps and windows in
