I am working with matrix and data frame in R and am writing a function that removes the first non-numeric character from each row of a matrix. So, if the original matrix has 9 rows, the function removes the '1' from the first row and the '5' from the second row and saves it as a new matrix. The function returns the new matrix. I have written some code but am struggling with it. Any suggestions would be much appreciated! e.g. example data: data_frame(x=1:6,y=c(1,2,3,4,5,6)) I would like the output to be: x y 1 1 2 2 2 3 3 3 4 4 4 5 5 5 6 A: Assuming the first non d4474df7b8
