GoodOK Flash Video FLV Converter Free [32/64bit]

GoodOlive Flash Video FLV Converter is an easy-to-use tool that can help you convert any video format to any flash player compatible video format. The interface is simple to use. All the settings can be adjusted, including the video parameters like the video size, bit rate, frame rate, sample frequency, channel mode and others. But it can also remove the video clips that are not supported by the conversion software. Moreover, you can add the source path, size and time of each video clip. Then you can start the conversion job with a few clicks. In the queue you can read the source path, size and time of each video clip. The program doesn't require a lot of system resources, has a good response time and runs well without any errors. Also, the conversion speed is quite fast. On the other hand, there are no help files available, and the interface could be improved. And as we mentioned, the program is not compatible with most portable devices. Lastly, we strongly recommend this software
