or later CMake build: The application uses a CMake build file. You will need the CMake compiler for this build, and the CMake GUI build tool. The required CMake versions are (currently) 2.8.4 and 2.6.4.

CMake build steps: 1. Download the application source from RapidMediaSource Sourceforge. 2. Edit the CMake build file. You will need to add the appropriate settings to the CMAKE_CXX_COMPILER, CMAKE_CXX_FLAGS, and CMAKE_CXX_FLAGS_DEBUG variables. Note: there is a bug in the CUDA CMake package where an optimization flag set in the compile command is not passed through to the generated CMake files. To work around this, set the flag in the CMake script and add the compile line -O0 to the compile command. You can add these variables to the generated CMakeCache.txt file, or you can modify the CMakeCache.txt file directly and add the variables there. 3. Run the CMake GUI build tool to generate the complete CMake build files. 4. Compile the application with the command line compiler. $> cmake.. $> make $> make install Note: make install
