Recovery is a program designed to help you recover forgotten passwords that were used for encrypting email messages. It can be used on any version of Microsoft Outlook. You can download DataNumen Outlook Password Recovery from Microsoft Office [Download]. My MS Outlook has recently changed its "Lock & Protect" option to "Lock & Encrypt" and I cant get it back to "Lock & Protect". I found a fix on KB2423336 but I don't want to disable the feature. Here is a copy of the KB article: How to disable the "Lock & Protect" option in Microsoft Outlook Go to the Start menu. Select Control Panel. Select Mail. Select View or Change Folder Properties. Select the tab that says "Lock & Protect". Select the option to "Remove Lock & Protect from This Folder". If you have not done this yet, you can undo all the changes by following the steps below, but make sure you have the correct option selected when the wizard opens. I would appreciate a download link to it, preferably. Thank you very much.
