Synopsys product, including the previous version of HSPICE. You must create a new directory for HSPICE. HSPICE is installed along with other tools, including AvanWaves. On Windows XP, you must select the new directory by clicking the "Browse" button and then clicking the "Continue" command. On Windows Vista and Windows 7, you can see a list of available directories in the "Folder Properties" dialog box. In this directory you should find HSPICE. The installer will automatically scan the directory and find the new installation package, then you will be prompted to reboot the computer. After restarting, the installer will prompt you to download and install HSPICE.
