The most recent addition to the Maxx, Prada's second go around with the mid-size cargo van is bound to have a few surprises. The official images reveal the the interior in all its glory, and while it definitely looks like a regular pickup, there's no mistaking that it's not quite the average run-of-the-mill family hauler. We're guessing that the Prada Maxx will look even less like a regular family hauler, thanks to the "Bolero" long seats and several chrome accents. No official word on a price yet, but we're betting it'll be on par with the Macan, the model that preceded the Maxx. [
