So far, so good. I am still testing it as I know it's early days but it performs as I expected. It is very accurate for what it is and feels like an .22LR in the hand. There is a lot to like about this gun. It was a pain to set up initially (by hand without a barrel gauge, 4 screws, and a new hex key). I did a lot of research before ordering this gun. It's fairly complex (but doable). The instructions include a lot of photos and I suspect the people who designed and built the gun were thinking about the average person rather than the enthusiast. That's not a bad thing, in fact it's probably a good thing. You get a lot of stuff. You get extra screws, extra internals, instructions, a removable barrel, and it just feels like it's a fully functioning firearm at the end of the set up. The gun just feels big. Really big. But, it's not heavy. It's also too heavy. Anyway, I finally got it in my hands. It's accurate, and it's accurate enough to shoot at paper targets. I think it would have been better if there were features geared towards enthusiasts. For example, the ability to select barrel weights, throwable shells, and so on. But, if you're buying this gun to just use it as a.
