We designed and synthesized new isoquinolone derivatives with a condensed ring fused to the ortho-position of the isoquinolone ring, which had a substitution at the 5-position of the isoquinolone ring. All synthesized compounds were tested for their effects on the phosphorylation of the Src SH2 domain. Compound 32d (5-piperidin-1-yl-3,8-dihydro-2H-isoquinol-3-one), which has a t-butyl group at the 5-position of the isoquinolone ring, showed good inhibitory activity (IC₅₀ = 7 microM) against Src SH2 domain phosphorylation, and further examination of the inhibitory effect on cell-based Src tyrosine kinase was examined. Determinants of health care utilization in patients with symptomatic lumbar spinal stenosis. Health care utilization and health outcome data were prospectively collected from patients with symptomatic lumbar spinal stenosis (LSS) treated with spinal decompression surgery. The purpose of this study was to explore the demographic and clinical factors
