* For information on learning about Photoshop, check out the "Learning Photoshop" section at the end of this chapter. * Photoshop CS6 and Elements 12: For more about these and other versions, check out the "Learning Photoshop CS6" and "Learning Elements 12" sections at the end of this chapter. Photoshop uses the RGB color model and has no CMYK colors, although it has a separate channel for Black and White. Photoshop's file format is commonly the .psd. Figure 2-1 shows a screen shot of the Photo Editing workspace in Photoshop. Figure 2-1: An empty Photo Editing workspace. Photoshop also offers print adjustments and other tools for creating photo books. To become familiar with the various tools in Photoshop, check out the sections in Chapter 16, "Mastering Photoshop's Printing and Output Options." You can save your image in a few different file types: .jpg, .png, .tiff, and .psd. These image types are commonly found at the top of your file list. Your file is automatically saved in whatever format was chosen when you saved the file. You can also select a default format for your files at the time you choose File⇒Save. For example, you can select .jpg for all new files, or you can choose .psd or .tiff for all new files. If you're already working with a file, you can change the file type for a particular image by choosing File⇒Save As. In the Save As dialog box, scroll to the lower part of the dialog box and click the type of file you want to save. Each of the three main file types—.jpg, .png, and .tiff—is best suited to certain projects. If you're a Mac user, you can do all of your editing on a Mac through Photoshop, including printing, since Photoshop for Mac is actually a newer version of Photoshop CS6 for the Mac. On a Mac, save your files as .psd files, and you can store them on a network, on an external hard drive, or in your account with Adobe. For more info on using Photoshop on a Mac, visit the Adobe website at http://www.adobe.com/psd. If you work in a print environment, I discuss the book-printing workflow in detail in Chapter 16. If you use a PC, you can still work

The Sharpening tool Photoshop's best tool is the sharpening tool. It is the most important tool for editing and retouching photographs, because this tool improves the contrast and allows you to quickly get the right image effect by eliminating blur and noise. Lighten Up your Pictures With the Filter Gallery The filter gallery allows you to add new effects to your images. Filters are a lot of fun to play with because they can be applied to more than one image at a time. Besides the filter, Photoshop has a library of effects that you can apply to any image to produce beautiful effects. You can even create new filters using your own creativity. It is extremely easy to apply any of the available filters to an image. Using Adjustment Layers in Photoshop Adjustment Layers are a way to make changes to your images or photos on one layer. These are like the layers in Sketch and Illustrator. Photoshop allows you to add one or more Adjustment Layers to an image. Using a Selection tool in Photoshop A selection tool is extremely useful for creating specific objects and removing them from images. One example of the selection tool is the Selection Brush, which is an active tool and can be used to create selections. Use the Pen tool for Sketching With the pen tool, you can sketch, draw, and create sophisticated a681f4349e

I have 3 7" KitchenKnivesSand tensioner, holder, tension ring, and holder bolts. I have the tensioner, tension ring and holder bolts all i have to know what to do with the holder, there are two different diameters on the back of the holder, one with threads and the other without. the ones with the threads fit on the holder and the ones with out the threads i have no idea what they are and what to do with them.Q: Using AngularJS within Angular? I've read a few AngularJS questions that deal with similar problems, but I haven't seen one yet that answers this specific question. In my AngularJS app I have one directive that's part of a Rails app I'm working on, basically I want to include this directive within the Angular app. My question is, should I do it like this: Or something like this: I know the former will work but I can't seem to get it to work with the later. Any ideas? Thanks! A: The first version is fine (as long as you load your directive dynamically on the page). To use ng-controller the directives can not be loaded from static files, so the second version is how you would handle this. To load dynamically from static files, you need to write your own angular filter that will load in a template dynamically. This article details how to write a filter: Netanyahu not answering [irrelevant] can't eat." "I can't really do anything." "So I can't take this anymore." " No, no." "You keep it." " Gee." "All right." "A little self-sacrifice." "There you go." "Yes, I'll be on time for work tomorrow." "Thank you, Petey." "So this little girl, the one that took you in... her name was Petey, too, huh?" "Petey, Petey, Petey." "And you and her, you weren't never married?" "No." "What?" "Why would you think that?" "No." "No." "I guess..." "You're just a little girl." "What's in the bag?" "It's my work clothes." "You all right?" "What is it?" " You're not gonna cry, are you?" " No, I'm not gonna cry." "I know what happened to your boat." "That's a lot of money." "That's a big money." "No, that's everything I have." "The insurance, I got nothing." "You got nothing?" "Hey, Anthony, you gotta help me out here." "I mean, you gotta help me out." "This, you know, what we're talking about here." "You know, what we got, I got..." "I don't have this." "I don't got this." "I ain't that guy." "I'm sorry." "And I don't wanna be that guy no more." "Because you're my girl, so I don't want to be that guy no more." "I don't want to be him." "You understand?" "Do you understand?" "I'm sorry." "Okay." "You ready?" "Good." "That's good." "Hey." "You're ready?" " Yeah." "Yeah, yeah." "I don't..." "I don't really like to do that." "It's exciting, your first time." "You got any cigarettes?" "Yeah, I think so." "I don't want them all." "I'm gonna get a beer." "You want anything?" "Yeah, I want a beer." " All right." " Hold on." "Wait." "I just want some of this." " Hold on a second." "Hold on." "I'll be right back." "Hi." "Can I have a beer, please?" "Thank you."
