November 25, 2013 Do You Lose Weight In Your Sleeping Position? There is a weight loss secret that can help you reduce your weight without exercise, but has been kept a secret since your parents and grandparents did it. This secret involves the sleeping position that you take. Some people believe it to be nothing more than a myth, but the truth is that it was a known fact that sleeping in a certain position will help you lose weight. The reason it's a secret is because it was believed to make people feel uncomfortable. Nowadays, there are other beds available that can help you sleep better. There are mattresses that are specifically designed for sleeping, so not all people have to use a regular bed. When considering their weight loss secret, you should think about sleeping in your right side. It will help you lose weight because of a specific reason. As you rest your head and shoulder on the right side of the bed, it will encourage your intestines to stay in that position. By having the right side of the bed, you will be to the left of your tummy and on top of your right leg. If you are a person that always sleeps on your stomach and side, then you should consider sleeping with your right
