tycoon city for android download hack tycoon city offline pc game tycoon city 2 offline tycoon city 2 pc offlineThe West Australian has confirmed that speculation Greg Wood has rejected the Eagles' new four-year contract offer, as he remains "prepared to wait for another opportunity". Speaking on radio station SEN this afternoon, Eagles chief executive Don Smith was coy on his potential re-signing of the veteran defender. "I haven't made my mind up yet," Smith said when asked if he would pull the trigger on a new deal. "We think Greg wants to play more football. It's not our call. "He's under contract to us. He can't trade the pick that we gave him." West Coast has until Friday to decide whether to tender Wood a new contract, with GWS also believed to be in the hunt to bring the utility to a fresh home. In a statement, the club confirmed Wood is yet to sign the new contract but said it was confident of a resolution. "The West Coast Eagles are extremely disappointed that Greg Wood is considering leaving the Club after three seasons," a statement from the club read. "The Club has undertaken a thorough analysis of the market and it would be a strong consideration that the Eagles could receive a significant financial advantage from trading Greg back to the Giants. "However, the decision is in the hands of Greg Wood and the Club will not consider trading him until the appropriate time. "The Club is looking forward to the release of Greg to pursue other opportunities and hopes he decides to remain at the Eagles." The Eagles also released a statement on Wood this afternoon, saying they were "disappointed" by his decision to consider leaving. "The Eagles look forward to continuing to build with Greg Wood as a key part of the playing group," the statement read. The former No.2 draft pick remains a significant loss for West Coast heading into the 2019 season after he was instrumental in the Eagles' finals series victory.
