TRegistration

TRegistration is a powerful utility created for both developers and end users who wish to keep track of the status of their software. The application can be used for many purposes, such as registering new updates, informing of updates, and helping end-users to check the applicable license conditions. It offers a versatile database for storing the registration information and people can use the registry to input several different types of registration data, including name, email, comment and product version. Additionally, people can add as many users as needed for that software, each having their own registration data. Furthermore, the application is able to generate email messages with customizable templates and be able to send them to the specified mail recipients. The database entries will remain intact and even if a software is later removed or purchased on a different website, the database entries will still be present. One can use the application as a license checker. People will be able to view the registered user's information and check whether or not their copy of the software is still valid. Furthermore, if that license has been purchased on a different website, they will be able to activate that software and have it work automatically.
