Natural progression of papillary thyroid cancer after initial treatment with radioactive iodine. A retrospective chart review of 467 patients with thyroid cancer treated with radioactive iodine (RAI) was performed to determine the natural history of papillary thyroid cancer after initial treatment with RAI. We identified 67 patients treated with RAI and followed for 5 years or more. Fifteen patients with an indication for prophylactic RAI had an observed cumulative rate of contralateral thyroid cancer of 2.5% at 5 years and 3.4% at 10 years. Twenty-one patients with a high risk of recurrence for recurrent disease had an observed 5-year recurrence-free survival rate of 80% and an 8-year disease-free survival rate of 75%. Eleven patients with an initial low-risk disease course had an observed 5-year contralateral disease rate of 10% and an 8-year disease-free survival rate of 100%. No patient with a low-risk disease course had observed contralateral cancer, recurrence, or death from disease within 5 years of RAI. These findings suggest that (1) RAI is curative for low-risk patients and (2) prophylactic RAI may be of limited use in patients with nodal metastases. TOLOTEO COUNTY, AZ — When Officer Doug Brown was notified that a dog had fallen into a well, he called the owner, but was told the owner had gone to the pub. The Collier Well Dog Rescue responded, retrieved the dog, strapped him up and rushed him to the veterinarian. “Once we found the dog, we called a vet because we were told that the dog belonged to a local bar and grill, where the local people eat. We checked all of the local taverns,” said Brown. The owners had not told the truth about the dog’s owner and the vet had no idea the dog belonged to the owner and was unaware that the owners had lied to them. But, with the help of a nearby eyewitness, it was determined the owner’s name and address. “We were able to find the owner. He was just told he was getting a dog,” Brown said. “He said he thought the dog was his.” Based on information from the Collier Well Dog Rescue and the owner, Brown worked with local law enforcement to bring the owner to justice. “It’s amazing to do that,” he said. “It’s nice to help other people.” The owner was soon taken into custody, with $500 in veterinarian bills paid by the owner’s insurance. 711 So.2d 372 (1998) L.D.
