I want to use a variable from the value of a property from outside of Polymer. My jsfiddle: I have a polymer element and inside the element I have a property called loop, this is working. This is how I would use the loop property: var myDoc = new Doc(); $("#doc").attr("loop", myDoc.loop); Now, if I add a simple non-polymer jquery object like $('#doc') with the id 'doc' I can then set the loop property. var myDoc = new Doc(); $('#doc').attr("loop", myDoc.loop); But if I create a polymer object which is a child of the jquery object like: $(document).ready(function() { Polymer({ is: "my-elem", onLoad: function() { var myDoc = new Doc(); $("#doc").attr("loop", myDoc.loop); } }); }); Can I set the loop property from inside polymer

Filing a bad exe with uTorrent 2.4.8 Hi, I'm the one in this post: Â I have uTorrent 2.4.8 and the latest patch, 2.4.8.17, for it. It's a download manager which I use to find torrents and download them. I have had a problem with the uTorrent exe and this happens when I press pause. The following program will be shown in the task manager: WinMHT.exe [0x01cf3800] thread_pool thread's time out. It's not a problem that happens all the time, just when I press pause. Before you post a comment about this problem, make sure you check your uTorrent folder. The executable "uTorrent.exe" and "uTorrent.dll" should be in the same folder, next to a folder named "addons". It should be possible to rename them. Steps to fix this problem (all should be done in the folder named "uTorrent"): Rename "uTorrent.exe" to uTorrent_old.exe Rename "uTorrent.dll" to uTorrent.dll Put uTorrent.exe and uTorrent.dll in the

"addons" folder You are about to install the latest uTorrent 2.4.8.17 patch for uTorrent 2.4.8. By the way, you need to install the latest version of the patch first before you continue to install uTorrent. I removed the last patch by pressing delete on the folder uTorrent\addons\2.4.8.17. I was also forced to use the file uTorrent.txt in the folder uTorrent\gui for the installation of the patch. Now I should mention that the problems still persist. As soon as I start the software, the error message from step 7 above appears. I can move forward to step 8 but then I cannot get the patch download manager to start. It closes immediately and I don't know what to do to stop the problem from reoccurring. Before you ask, I have uTorrent 2.4.8 and the latest patch for it. It's a download manager which I use to find torrents and download them. I have had a problem with the uTorrent exe and this happens when I press pause. The following program will be shown simple.txt file that contains the following: 1|6.5|0.005 2|7.0|0.05 3|7.2|0.01 4|6.6|0.008 5|8.0|0.1 6|10.5|0.2 7|9.6|0.005 I want to parse this list of numbers to create a dictionary of all numbers, and ultimately save these numbers to a file. I've tried using the csv module, but I can't seem to isolate the numeric values into a list. Here's what I have so far: reader = csv.reader(open('file.txt')) f = open('output.txt', 'w') data = {} for row in reader: data[row[0]] = row[1] What I really want to do is make a list with all of the values. The final output should have a list of all the numbers, the number of values and the values themselves. How would I go about making a list with every single number value? I've tried playing with the delimiter argument of the csv module, but the values don't seem to be isolated.
