Its been a while since I last posted one of these. But with the holiday season almost here I figured I should update these, and share a little shout out to all of our readers and followers of the Read the Rest of This Post Reply.Heres what I will be buying this holiday season.First I will be spending money to try and get myself in the best shape for CID, because I know I need to be ready, since they are going to test me after the fire drill. I will be doing a combination of CrossFit classes, dietary changes, and self training. Secondly I am going to attempt to get a good new car. Its been a long time since my last car and I have been driving myself crazy thinking about it. Thirdly I will be buying a new cell phone. All of the material that I write is based on real events that happened to Bodil Joensen. It has been fun seeing Bodil Joensen news and the attention it has received. Its kind of weird knowing that people really read my blog. I feel like my life has been completely overshadowed by my family because of her and it is all I can think about right now. It is also hard
