that you can name some other items too.
I don't know how many people have their own lists of such items. Here, I present a list of some software which is not available as a torrent, but you can download it from some web page.
Acrobat Reader and Acrobat: I didn't find them as torrent. You need to download them manually. Photoscape: This is a Photoshop alternative. Here's the page.
ISPCK3: I haven't found it as torrent, but you can get it here. Java: I didn't find it as torrent. MeGUI: This is a general purpose open source screen recorder. A: What you're looking for is an All-In-One-CD-Burner. This is a good article that will tell you how to do this on windows (there are other posts on windows that are very similar). The main point to remember is that the CD needs to be formatted, so it can only contain bootable files (for example, if you don't format the CD with MSDOS, it won't be bootable) A: Here's a list of torrents of software and other content, sorted by number of seeders:

Trumpf TruTops Suite.rar Trumpf TruTops Suite.zip.HotspotHost.com.Conformational modifications of a trinitrophenol-containing peptide variant of triosephosphate isomerase detected by electrospray ionization mass spectrometry. The phenomenon of intramolecular isomerization of amino acids to yield a peptide isomer accompanied by significant changes in structural and conformational properties has been studied with a peptide variant of triosephosphate isomerase (TIM) containing the chromogenic peptide sequence H-His-Pro-Ala-Pro-Pro-Trp-OMe-OH (HPAAPW). The peptide has been obtained in two different enantiomeric states: (R)-HPAAPW isomer (R-HPAAPW) and (S)-HPAAPW isomer (S-HPAAPW) by the use of a covalently bound chiral support in the Strecker synthesis. Due to a higher population of the isomeric form, higher yields of the isomer with the (R)-configuration have been observed, leading to the question of an apparent enantioselectivity of the isomerization. Upon collision-induced dissociation (CID), the intact R-HPAAPW and S-HPAAPW isomers undergo significant changes in their conformational structures leading to the appearance of new (minor) mass spectrometric signals for fragment ions (but not for cross-ring cleavage ions) that correspond to loss of a trinitrophenol (TNP) moiety (PNP ion, m/z 413, $[M-TNP]^+$, for R-HPAAPW; and PNP ion, m/z 411, $[M-TNP]^+$, for S-HPAAPW). This results in a dramatic increase in the amount of TNP-related ion (m/z 413) relative to the parent ion of each isomer. Therefore, the new ions arising from loss of the TNP moiety can be considered as good markers for detection of the isomerization process in low enantiomeric excess ratios by CID. The combination of electrospr
